Contact Us

Data Types

Salesforce.com, Inc.

If you engage in support within the Salesforce portal, Salesforce receives basic info related to your case and subscription (e.g., name, email, phone number, company, country, Atlas ID).

If you include other personal data in your support tickets (e.g., snippets of database logs, query outputs, etc.), this information would also be processed by Salesforce.

Intercom R&D Unlimited Co.

If you initiate a chat in the Atlas UI chatbot, Intercom receives basic info related to your case (e.g., name, email, phone number, company, country, Atlas ID).

If you include other personal data in your support chats (e.g., snippets of database logs, query outputs, etc.), this information would also be processed by Intercom.

Talkdesk, Inc.

If you engage in telephone support, Talkdesk receives basic contact info (e.g., name, phone number).

Google Inc.

If you engage in email support via Gmail, Google receives basic contact info (e.g., name, email address).

If you include other personal data in support emails (e.g., snippets of database logs, query outputs, etc.), this information would also be processed by Google.

Contact Us

Box, Inc.

If you choose to share files with us during the delivery of remote Consulting Services, Box receives basic contact info as well as any personal data included in those files.

Data Types

Coveo Software Corp.

Coveo is a federated search engine that allows you to search for basic support info as well as your historical and active support tickets. If you engage in support within the Salesforce portal, those support tickets would be integrated into Coveo.

If you include other personal data in your support tickets (e.g., snippets of database logs, query outputs, etc.), this information would also be processed by Coveo.

Fastly, Inc.

If you engage in support within the Salesforce portal, information transmitted to and from MongoDB will be transmitted through Fastly's servers.

If you include other personal data in your support tickets (e.g., snippets of database logs, query outputs, etc.), this information would also be processed by Fastly.

Stripe Inc.

Stripe receives billing information, such as your name, credit card details, and address, if you pay for MongoDB services by credit card.
